

«Being visionary today means peering deeply into the present moment or circumstance and discovering the seeds of the future that are waiting to emerge right here, right now».

- Alan Seale, founder of The Center for Transformational Presence

A change of time and greater conscious awareness

We live in challenging, complex, amazing, and unpredictable times—times that demand a new set of leadership skills and capacities.

A powerful conscious leadership movement is now emerging in many parts of the world. It's a movement built on greater conscious awareness, understanding, perception, and transformational action.

Transformational Presence Leadership offers new approaches, models, frameworks, and tools rooted in ancient wisdom teachings, quantum physics, and an understanding of the power and application of our own human energy technology.

Alan Seale believes that leaders today need to embody the qualities, characteristics, and skills of four modern-day archetypes.

As we develop the qualities of these archetypes within ourselves, we are able to respond more powerfully and effectively to the needs, challenges, and opportunities of today's rapidly changing world.

In that way, we begin to prototype a new kind of leadership going forward.

The Seer looks beyond the obvious to perceive emerging patterns, connections, and potential that most people do not notice.

The Explorer is skilled at walking into the unknown, reading the "signals" that appear to show where to go next, making new discoveries, and blazing trails into new frontiers.

The Co-Creator collaborates with ideas and people to create new structures and forms that are relevant to today's emerging opportunities and challenges.

The Ambassador builds bridges of understanding and awareness.

Capacity learning:

- how to cut to the core of what is happening quickly, identify the next steps, and move into effective, impactful, and sustainable action
- how to sense the bigger picture and work with the details at the same time
- how to intuit what is happening below the surface
- how to more effectively empower those you serve to grow into their greatest potential
- how to discover the hidden messages within challenges or problems and respond in the most effective and productive ways
- how to "show up" as a leader in ways that encourage and inspire transformation in people, organizations, and situations

Possible outcomes:

- a greater capacity for awareness, understanding, creativity, and innovation, all of which lead to more effective and sustainable action
- a greater capacity to hold and work with complex situations and circumstances
- a greater capacity for meeting both opportunities and challenges from a place of clarity, grounding, and trust
- a greater capacity to "think on your feet" and work with whatever lands in front of you instead of struggle against it.

"No matter what is going on, my grounding in Transformational Presence is never far away. Decision-making, both day-to-day and long-term, are so much easier and clearer now. I can still get caught on a personal rollercoaster from time to time, yet now I realize that it happens when I need to let go of something and take a big step forward. And now when the rollercoaster appears, I have tools and frameworks that help me quickly get grounded again, find clarity, and take action. I'm also getting better and faster at recognizing the rollercoaster before it sweeps me away."

" I could write a long novel expressing my gratitude to Alan Seale and telling about the benefits I received from the "Transformational Presence: Leadership in Action" course. Attending this course was a profound and life-changing experience. I learned to listen to and speak with my "heart language," which takes my doing, being, feeling, and thinking to a greater synergetic level. Both for sensing my own life and for my ability to listen to my clients, it was so important to meet and learn from Alan in this all-too-short three-day course "
